1. Existing road bridges in southeastern Brandenburg are being replaced with bridges of stronger foundations and greater width. Only Soviet engineer troops are employed on this project.
2. Although the present bridges, erected after the war, are of a temporary nature, they are still in excellent condition. One such is the bridge over the Dahme at Bindow (V-12), direction east from Konigswusterhausen (V-02) to Storkow (V-22).
3. The dismantling of these bridges and the construction of new ones was done between 28 August and 8 September 1947.
